Graham's Reflection

Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for human masters, since you know that you will receive an inheritance from the Lord as a reward. It is the Lord Christ you are serving. Colossians 3:23-24

Greetings Mary Burnett,

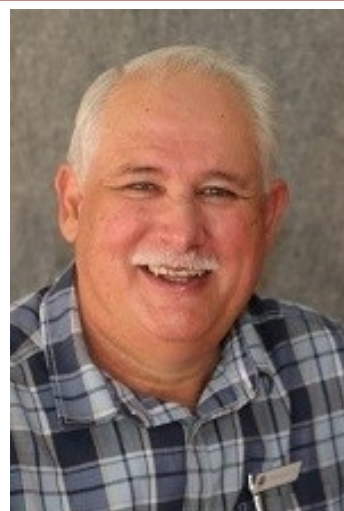

It is an exciting time in the life of the Uniting Church. There are many new missional projects and initiatives starting to take shape. I particularly find myself drawn into the wonderful work of Project Plenty – Shared Life, Flourishing Communities. It has a real 'Spring' vibe about it; not just the promise of new life shooting up, but strong projected growth and plenty of fruit. Project Plenty is moving into a new phase, going from vision and theory, to practical application, and making a real difference in the worship, service and witness of congregations and Presbyteries across Queensland.

One thing with such projects and plans is that there is an incredible amount of time taken up in meetings, preparation, and administration to bring these plans to fruition; so much so, that it is easy to lose sight of the real purpose. I am sure we can all relate to this – church life is forever busy. But what is it we are really trying to achieve? Are we serving God, the church or ourselves?

It is when I begin to ask these questions, I often think of the great composer, Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750). He is a great source of inspiration and encouragement.

J S Bach was born into a musical family, but by the age of ten, had lost both of his parents. Early in his life, the skilled young Johann determined he could, and would write music for the glory of God ... and so he did. Thus, most of Bach's works are explicitly Biblical, leading Albert Schweitzer to refer to him as 'the fifth evangelist,' and thereby comparing him to Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. At only 17 years of age, Bach became the organist at his church, and very soon thereafter, received charge of the entire music ministry.

One incredible fact is that during his ministry in Weimar, Germany he wrote a new cantata every month ... not just a song, a whole cantata complete with choir parts and full musical accompaniment. And during one three-year period he wrote, conducted, orchestrated, and performed (with his choir and orchestra) a new cantata every week!

Wow that is a lot of hard work, and a lot of dedication – with no computer technology to help. So, what was his true motivation? How was he able to achieve this?

At the beginning of every authentic manuscript, you will find the letters “J.J.” This stands for Jesu Java (Jesus help me). At the end of each original manuscript you will find the letters “S.D.G.” This stands for Soli Deo Gloria (to the glory of God).

Bach never started a task without first seeking Jesus’ help, and in doing so no doubt, ensured that his plans and purposes aligned with those of Christ. Similarly, he never completed a task without dedicating it to God’s glory.

There is definitely something in this story for me, and for us all across the Presbytery. Life is busy, and that is why it is always important to start things on the right foot. Are our plans aligned with that of Christ? Take the time before you start, to ask that question, and to seek the Lord’s help in seeing it through. And then never forget to pause at the end and say ‘Thank you’ to God for the insight, strength, knowledge, and inspiration that was given to bring it to completion.

Oh, how great are God’s riches and wisdom and knowledge!

How impossible it is for us to understand his decisions and his ways!

For who can know the Lord’s thoughts?

Who knows enough to give him advice?

And who has given him so much that he needs to pay it back?

For everything comes from him and exists by his power and is intended for his glory. All glory to him forever! Amen. (Romans 11:33-36 NLT)

All Welcome

Peachester Centenary Celebration

The Peachester church building celebrates its centenary on 30th October, 2022 with a service starting at 4pm at which the Moderator will be present as well as the Anglican bishop. The church building was originally a Methodist church but the whole community came along to Sunday school there and so the building was given to the Community Hall committee in 2017 to care for it when the UCA folks could no longer care for it alone. We hold an ecumenical community church service on the last Sunday each month at 5.30pm led alternately by Anglican and Uniting churches in Beerwah. The Community hall committee have installed new carpet, painted the inside and will arrange a display of historic photographs and memorabilia for the Centenary celebrations. (open from 3pm - 5.30pm)

All previous members of the Peachester community are encouraged to attend, especially any clergy associated with the church, to share their stories. Contact John Ingram 5494 9380 or churchgcuc@gmail.com for more information or with stories if you cannot attend.

A special afternoon tea will be part of the celebrations.

Blessings, Elizabeth Nolan

Belonging, Eating, Listening and Learning

BELLS faith community's Sunday 'service' was looking like something intended to achieve everything from worship to witness, to fellowship and teaching. And it couldn't. So the decision has been made to try a new rhythm through each month, 'shaping' the weekly gatherings to deepen four relationships that are key to making disciples:

1. with God, in worship, prayer and study
2. with members of the faith community in deep and trusting community
3. with the neighbourhood around us, to whom God is calling
4. with the wider Church. (Not only the Uniting Church)

BELLS' 'services' also dovetail with the missional aims of Belonging, Eating, Listening and Learning. A week in which dinner is the prime focus, including Holy Communion, is followed by a week in which we hear one another testimonies and explore the Gospel story alongside our own. There's a more traditional, sermon-based service, and the fourth Sunday goes out into the park!

That Sunday is all about hospitality and blessing. BELLS runs a three-on-three basketball competition that attracts teams of teens, families and pre-teens (playing for sheep stations!) The barbecue is on and the church provides good hamburgers at no charge for up to sixty guests. This has created some wonderful fun and new connections for people who ask who we are, and how they might find a sense of belonging.

'Grace' over the burgers and a prayer box, along with announcing our meal bank enables newcomers to see God's people being good news.

The minutes from the 36 Synod are now available

The 36th Synod in Session theme was "a daring HOPE". After the challenges of the last two years, it is easy to feel burdened or overwhelmed, and yet the writer of Hebrews calls us to 'hold unswervingly to the HOPE we profess, for he who promised is faithful'.

- A daring HOPE is based on our trust in an infinite God, who draws us to what is possible more than probable.
- A daring HOPE is a deliberate act of our will more than an expectant emotion.
- A daring HOPE is choosing to offer our finite efforts alongside the infinite resources of God so that all things might genuinely be reconciled in Christ.

Coolum Beach Uniting Church news

A couple of years ago Coolum UCA converted a storage shed to open a Food Bank under the management of Ken Jones, an Eora nations man. Ken became a member of Coolum UCA and together with volunteers from our church and other local churches have been helping Coolum people with food and a listening ear as many are coping with homelessness and loneliness.

This service has then progressed to an outreach church service with a First Nations flavour called Gulum Community church and it meets once a month on a Sunday afternoon and includes afternoon tea. This has been an inspiring time to learn about First Nations theology as well as share our life's ups and downs and pray for each other.

And now we have a visit from Orange Sky once a week which parks outside the food shop and provides washing services and a cuppa for those doing it tough in our community.

Coolum UCA hope to continue our mission to help and support those in our community.
